"Cross for Attorney General."

The words were cheered again and again by five thousand people gathered in front of the Windsor Hotel last night. They blazed forth from banners carried in the procession. They expressed the one thought, the common purpose that drew together several thousands of men and women and made them cheer themselves hoarse when the man who was their representative in the Legislature stood before them.

Faith Still in Cross

To say that the civic reception held last night in honor of Hon. Charles W. Cross was a success, would be to put it mildly. It was more than a civic reception. It was a demonstration of public feeling, a tribute to the representative of a constituency the like of which has seldom been seen in this province. The idea of thus getting an expression of the popular feeling was only originated late yesterday afternoon, yet so unanimous was the response that fully five thousand people responded to the call to show that they still had, and had never lost, the utmost faith in Mr. Cross as their representative, and that although he is for the time being not in his old place as the Attorney General of the province, they hope and expect to see him there again before many days are past.

Gathering of Crowds

The signal for the demonstration to begin last night was the playing of bands and the shrilling of bagpipes as they marched to the corner of McDougall and Jasper. Here the procession lined up that marched to Mr. Cross's residence on Hardisty street to bring him to the Windsor Hotel, from the balcony of which the speeches were delivered.

Many Prominent Men

There were many men prominent in the political and business affairs of the city and province to be seen in the procession. Ex-Premier Rutherford and Mayor Lee were in Charlie Galt's automobile that headed the procession, and in which Mr. Cross and his wife rode on the way down town. Boddie May was also in this auto on the way up, and he looked quite happy as he waved a small Union Jack enthusiastically. Several more motors followed, in which were a number of prominent men, among them being P. J. Nolan, C. C. McCauley, Joe Morris, Robert Shaw, J. E. Stauffer, Archie Campbell, J. W. Cornwall, Peter Gann, R. T. Telford, W. F. Puffer and many others.

Following the auto came two men carrying a huge Union Jack. Then came a band and then several carriages crowded with enthusiastic members of the Liberal Clubs, then more bands, and finally several hundred men on foot.

Had Friends

As the procession left for Mr. Cross's house, and while it was gone, there was quite a display of fireworks at the corner of First Street and Jasper avenue. To be sure this was in the first fire limits, but it was in such a good cause that the policeman patrolling that spot couldn't find it in his heart to say a word of protest, and instead contented himself with keeping a close watch on the proceedings to see that no harm was done.

Mr. and Mrs. Cross Arrive

Then the procession came back. In the first auto were seated Mr. and Mrs. Cross. When the crowd caught sight of them they cheered and cheered. Mr. Cross raised his hat to the throng in response to the thunder of greeting, and then he and Mrs. Cross alighted, and went on to the city hall balcony. Their appearance there was the signal for another outburst of cheering. When Mr. Rutherford appeared he also was greeted with a burst of applause.

Mayor Lee was the chairman of the meeting, and made a brief but eloquent speech explaining the reason of the gathering.

Mayor Lee's Address
"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "we are here tonight to do honor to our representative in the Legislature, and to convey to him in some slight measure our regard for him" (Cheers).

"We believe that during the years that he has been in the Legislature as our representative, he has done not only what was best for the city, but also for the province generally. (Cries of "Hear, Hear," and "He surely has.")

"And we want him to stay in the Legislature not only as our representative, but also as the Attorney General of the province of Alberta. A thunder of applause greeted this remark, and cries of "Hear, Hear," were heard from all parts of the crowd.

"He has placed on our statute books," continued the Mayor, "many laws which have been of inestimable benefit to the province, and we want him to be able to continue the good work that he has begun so well."

Mr. Cross Receives Ovation
Mayor Lee then turned to Mr. Cross. No introduction was necessary. The crowd burst into a storm of cheers and applause, and it was several minutes before quiet was restored. Then some one in the crowd called out, "What's the matter with Charlie Cross?"

"It is a year ago last March since I last had the pleasure of addressing an Edmonton audience," began Mr. Nolan, "and I am just as ready to support Mr. Rutherford and Mr. Cross as I was then and years before that."

His Speech
"I am sure I want to thank every one of you for the goodness and kindness with which you have received my name tonight," said he, "It is not often that a public man receives such a reception as this, and again I want to thank you for it. It has touched my heart deeply."

"I do not intend to discuss with you or anyone else the question as to whether or not the Rutherford administration did right or wrong in entering into the contract with the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway. That I hope to have the opportunity to do at some time in the not distant future. But I want to say this to you tonight, and to every man in this country or any other place, if any man is able to say one word that will show that any member of the Rutherford Government did anything wrong or acted other than honestly in this matter, now is his opportunity. Let him go before the Royal Commission that is sitting in the city now, and there tell what he may know. (Cries of "Hear, Hear," and "No one can.")

"If any one has any charges of wrong doing to bring against me, let them also go before the Commission, and lay them there. (Cries again.)

Will Support Sifton

"The political situation of this province has today been very materially changed. But I want to say to you that I give the same support to our new premier, Mr. Sifton, as I intend to give him as long as he continues the same honest administration that Mr. Rutherford has given us in the past. (Cries of "No one can.")

Just here one ardent Scotchman called out something in Gaelic, to which Mr. Cross replied in the same almost forgotten language, much to the delight and amusement of the crowd.

Praise for Rutherford

Mr. Cross then continued: "I want to tell you what satisfaction it has been for me to have been under the leadership of such a chief as Mr. Rutherford has been. I want to tell you that when the history of the province is written, the name of Rutherford will stand for good government, good legislation, and honest administration."

Mr. Cross then continued: "I want to tell you what satisfaction it has been for me to have been under the leadership of such a chief as Mr. Rutherford has been. I want to tell you that when the history of the province is written, the name of Rutherford will stand for good government, good legislation, and honest administration."

I want to tell you that when the history of the province is written, the name of Rutherford will stand for good government, good legislation, and honest administration."

CHARLES W. CROSS, M. P.

Mr. Cross then again referred to the pleasure it gave him to have such a gathering in his honor. "And I am proud," said he, "because it is from those who have been my neighbors for so many years."

"That shows that you'll go back again," called a voice in the crowd. "But I don't want to have to seek reelection for some months yet," retorted Mr. Cross.

Mr. Cross is Cheered
Just before he sat down, Mr. Cross did a very graceful thing. He said, "I want to introduce to you a girl I am very fond of—my wife," and then led Mrs. Cross to the edge of the balcony. At sight of her the crowd again broke into cheers.

Mr. P. J. Nolan was the next speaker. Just as he arose the bagpipes started up.

There's nothing very Irish about that," remarked Mr. Nolan and the crowd laughed.

Mr. P. J. Nolan Speaks
It is a year ago last March since I last had the pleasure of addressing an Edmonton audience," began Mr. Nolan, "and I am just as ready to support Mr. Rutherford and Mr. Cross as I was then and years before that."

Mr. Nolan then referred to the Royal Commission.

"For some little time now I have been appearing before this commission," said Mr. Nolan, "to find out whether Mr. Rutherford has ever stolen any money, and do you know that every day at half past four I have had to get up and inform the commission that I wished somebody would hurry up and say something nasty about my client. During the entire sittings, not the least breath of scandal has been raised against any member of the government." (Cheers and cries of "Where's Bennett.")

"I, from the other part of the province add my words to yours that Mr. Cross should be Attorney General and some day I hope to see him in the position to which he is entitled by his honesty and integrity."

Mr. C. S. Dowsett, the next speaker, explained how it was that the business men had got up this demonstration.

Cross Should be Attorney
"We think," he said, "that it will be best for Edmonton and for the northern part of the province that Mr. Cross should still be Attorney General. He has always been the representative of true Liberalism in Edmonton. He formed the first Liberal club in this city."

H. G. Brunton pointed out that Mr. McDougall, Mr. Boyle and the "man who represents us in the Dominion House" had brought about the present condition of affairs that is so detrimental to Edmonton's welfare.

"If you do not return C. W. Cross as Attorney General, where do you get off at?" he asked.

Mr. Joseph Adair spoke of some of the many good and wise laws which Mr. Cross has had placed on the statute books of the province.

Developed North Country
"He took an interest," said Mr.

Mr. Cross then continued: "I want to tell you what satisfaction it has been for me to have been under the leadership of such a chief as Mr. Rutherford has been. I want to tell you that when the history of the province is written, the name of Rutherford will stand for good government, good legislation, and honest administration."

I want to tell you that when the history of the province is written, the name of Rutherford will stand for good government, good legislation, and honest administration."

SOME ROUSING SPEECHES

Enthusiastic Meeting Was Held Last Night After the Big Demonstration to Cross

The demonstration in favor of Mr. Cross's reappointment as Attorney-General culminated last night in a large and enthusiastic meeting in the Liberal Club, where the organization of the Waterways Campaign, and the sending of the petition was completed.

Mr. G. MacLeod was in the chair, and several rousing speeches were delivered.

Mr. J. Clarke's remarks took a practical turn, and he urged the importance of doing their best to retain in the cabinet of the province one who had been the best friend the city and the north had ever had.

Mr. Adair declared the agitation against the government was not genuine. There was not the slightest evidence to support the suggestions of improper dealing. On the other hand he argued that with one exception the Waterways Campaign, which had granted no unusual concession. They were, as Judge Beck had remarked, bound by the same specifications exactly as the C.N.R. and the G.T.P.

The one exceptionally favorable condition was as to the rate of interest, and the object in granting that, the securing of par for the bonds, had been achieved.

W. F. Puffer, M.P.P.

Mr. W. F. Puffer, the popular member from Lacombe, had a hearty reception, and on concluding his remarks, delivered with a spontaneity and a ring of genuineness that was quite infectious, he was thrice cheered by the meeting. He expressed the opinion that the Waterways deal was only being used as an excuse. It was not that the matter at all. He had studied the matter in all its bearings, and had found that the government in all they did had followed along well-beaten lines. The deal was such as to commend itself to every man who knew the facts, but people were being misled and misinformed, and a factitious opposition had been raised, aimed at the removal from office of a government which had incurred the opposition of certain powerful interests. Every true Liberal should stand by a man who was called upon to face an unwarranted opposition of this character, a man who had had the courage to uphold the interests of the province in the most admirable manner.

Mr. Puffer, continuing, said that wherever he went in the province he had found there was a friendly disposition towards Mr. Cross. He was undoubtedly a man whose political career appealed to the electors. There was no man stood higher in the opinion of many people in the province, and of Mr. Puffer had been some what surprised to find even the more general was this feeling, and in view the fact that many of the newspapers had by distortion of facts done their utmost to present the Attorney-General in a wrong light. 2ND SESSION IS NOW OVER

Before House Was Prorogued Resolution Was Passed Expressing Sorrow at King's Death

Member for Rocky Mountain Made Foolish Speech and Caused Scenes of Disorder

Rules Are Disregarded

The first session of the second legislature of Alberta was prorogued by his Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, yesterday afternoon.

The one order of business was the passing of a resolution of sorrow at the death of King Edward and allegiance to King George V. It was passed by a standing vote and reads as follows:

"That an humble address be presented to his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor to be forwarded through his Excellency the Governor-General to his Majesty King George V. on the severing efforts to promote the virtue of the heartfelt sympathy of this House in his grievous affliction and loss by the death of the late King, his Majesty's father of blessed and glorious memory. We shall ever remember with grateful affection the zeal and success with which our late sovereign labored to consolidate the peace and concord of the world toward every effort to promote the amelioration of human suffering and to unite in justice and freedom all races and classes of her subjects with his Imperial throne."

"To offer to his Majesty our loyal congratulations upon his auspicious accession, to assure his Majesty of our devotion to his Royal person and of our assured conviction that his reign under the favor of Divine Providence will be distinguished by unexampled success and the promotion of the virtue, prosperity and contentment of the realm, and to guard the rights and liberties of his Majesty's faithful people."

A message of condolence be sent to her Majesty, the Queen Mother, to assure her Majesty of the deep and warm sympathy which this House feels with her Majesty in this melancholy time of sorrow and irreparable loss and that this House and nation will ever preserve towards her Majesty sentiments of unalloyable reverence and affection."

His Honor's Speech.

The House in the following speech from the throne:

"I have to announce to you that the resignation of Premier Rutherford was placed in my hands this morning too, getting things in readiness for his successor, if one is appointed."

Premier Sifton spent the whole morning at Government House in consultation with the Lieutenant-Governor. What the subject under discussion was, is of course not admitted officially, but it is understood on good authority that the personnel of the new cabinet occupied the thoughts of his Honor and the new premier to a very great extent. The greatest interest is evidenced in political circles today as to who the members of the new cabinet will be. But that is a secret that is known only to Premier Sifton and the Lieutenant-Governor, and it is doubtful if they have made up their minds on the matter yet.

Believed That the Oath Was the Same Administered to King at the Coronation

Ottawa, May 27.—Considerable comment has been caused in the civil service by the refusal of an officer of one of the departments to take the oath of allegiance to King George.

It is my belief that Premier Sifton shall submit the personnel of his cabinet and his policy to the members of this legislative assembly for ratification at an early date, and notice of which will be given you. In the meantime it is my will that this meeting of the legislative assembly be prorogued, and I do declare it formally prorogued."

Unparliamentary Scenes.

Even the solemn order of passing a resolution of sorrow at the death of the King could not be carried through the Alberta legislature without a scene of unparliamentary character. Mr. Rutherford introduced the resolution with a few fitting remarks. Mr. Bennett seconded it with an eloquent address which in spite of the nature of the resolution aroused applause.

Then Mr. C. M. O'Brien, whose mission in life is to wave the red flag in season and out of season, undertook to wave it very much out of season. He rose, as he explained after the House rose, to move an amendment to the resolution, wishing to add consideration of the relatives of coal miners who were killed in the big mine disaster a few weeks ago.

He started out by saying that the King's death was a sad event. He

New Premier Spent Greater Part of Morning at the Government House

EVERYTHING VERY QUIET

Mr. Rutherford and Mr. Cross Were at the Buildings Clearing Up Their Papers

There is a marked change in the political arena today. Yesterday everything was at fever heat. Today all is perfectly quiet. Down at the legislative buildings everything goes on as though nothing out of the ordinary had occurred. So well are the departments organized that they continue their work as usual, although they have no nominal head.

Mr. Rutherford was in his office as usual this morning. He expects, however, to have all his personal papers and affairs cleared up by tomorrow afternoon, and on Monday morning it is quite likely that Premier Sifton will take his place in the premier's office. Two Prominent Public Men Were Witnesses Before the Royal Commission Today

MR. GODDARD'S REPORTS

Various Items in His Estimates of the Cost of the Road Were Examined

Before the examination of Mr. Cecil Goddard, secretary of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, was resumed before the Royal Commission this morning, counsel requested that Mr. J. W. Woolf, M.P.P. for Cardston, be called as he (Mr. Woolf) was leaving on the afternoon train for his home.

Mr. Woolf stated that he thought at the time that the government was guaranteeing too large an amount per mile for construction and that five per cent. interest was also excessive. The witness stated that the premier's explanation was that $20,000 a mile guarantee was the maximum and that as the first fifty miles of the road would be the easiest to build, as large an amount would not be paid.

Mr. Woolf said that he never had any conversation with Clarke in connection with any proposed amendment to the contract and that he had no financial interest in the A. & G. W.

DANNY MAHER CRACK JOCKEY

Will Ride the Favorite, Next Gow, in the English Derby Next Wednesday—Won Three

One hears much talk on every side regarding the running of this year's Derby at Epsom on June 1 and opinion is pretty evenly divided between Lord Roseberry's Neil Gow and Lemberg, while the advance betting on the result is unusually heavy.

While there is to be no Sir Martin in the race this year, the Derby will have no little interest for Americans for the reason that several of the horse men from across the States, including Harry Payne Whitney, have made entries. Then, too, Danny Maher, who is having better success this year than ever, is to ride Lord Roseberry's entry. He will receive a fee of $25,000.

As a rule the average Englishman does not take kindly to an American when he comes in direct competition with "native sons," and for that reason it might reasonably be expected that the English would be jealous of Maher's successes and would attempt to belittle his riding.

Whether it is because Maher has been riding in England for so many seasons or for some other reason, English race goers regard Maher with the utmost respect and admiration. And his mounts always have a large following among the English, who back him as much through sentiment as for any other reason.

Should he win the Derby this year with Neil Gow, it would be the fourth time by the way, that the blue ribbon of the English turf has been won by Maher on the saddle. Rock Sand, Gwyn and Sparrow, the years they were were all piloted to the front by the boy from Hartford, Conn. No other jockey now riding in England has a similar record.

WHO WILL BE TRAINING BOSS

There Is Bound to Be Strife Between Sam Berger and Jim Corbett

San Francisco, May 27.—Friends of James J. Jeffries are speculating today as to who will be the boss in the big fellow's training camp at Rowardennan when Jim Corbett arrives. Hereafter the coming of the former champion has been viewed as an unmitigated blessing, but those who have seen the recent cropping out of jealousies among Jeffries' handlers now fear that his arrival will add to the strife and prove a historical exception of the adage that "too many cooks spoil the broth."

Corbett is expected at Rowardennan the latter part of the month. Although he hasn't said so officially, he has intimated to his friends that he expects to assume charge.

If he attempts to there is bound to be trouble, with seven capital letters in the spelling. Sam Berger is supposed to be Jeffries' manager, and to have the final word in the training of the boxer.

The truth is, however, that Farmer Burns is the only one in Jeffries' camp who has anything to say regarding the conditioning of Jeffries. When Joe Choyinski unpacked his trunk at Rowardennan he hotly asserted that he was going to run things, but up to the date he has only done so in print. Whenever the question has been raised as to whether Jeffries should or should not do certain things, Burns has been the earl court, and his decisions have been subject to revision only by the big fellow himself.

Corbett and Choyinski are believed to be none too friendly, and it is feared that there will be a clash between these two when Corbett gets on the scene and that one or the other will be forced to take a speedy hike.

CALLIES A. vs. CALLIES B.

The above teams will meet on the Exhibition Grounds this evening. Kick-off at 7 sharp. The selection committee requests a large turnout of players. After the game the committee will hold a meeting to pick the teams for the coming games.

JOHNNY EVERS IS A NERVOUS WRECK

Automobile Accident and After Effects Will Keep Him Out of Game for Months

Chicago, May 27.—That the nervous shock sustained by Johnny Evers following the collision of his auto with a street car, in which George A. McDonald, baseball writer, of the Chicago Journal, was killed, will keep the great little infielder out of the game for months is predicted by his team mates. Evers has been unable to collect his nerves since the accident and holds himself responsible for the death of the newspaper man.

The Cub players in close touch with the second baseman say he won't rally from the shock to play his accustomed brilliant game before the middle of August and not before the end of the season.

With Evers out of the game during the first half of the pennant race, followers of the Cubs fear their club will meet many repulses. John was unable to play today had a game been possible, and he will not be in the lineup for several days to come.

The Cubs almost to a man attended the inquest over the body of McDonald. Evers was there, unable to collect his nerves as the result of the accident, and fellow players say he will carry the memory of the tragedy throughout the remainder of his ball-playing days.

LADY AT BALL GAME

Did You Ever Have This Happen to You?

She—What did the man with the wire over his face say?
He—One ball.
She—I don't understand why he said it.

He—The pitcher threw a ball. That's different from a strike, you know.

She—Of course. Anybody could see he threw a ball. He had it in plain sight in his hand, what else would he be expected to throw?

He—A strike.
She—But the man with the stick does the striking, doesn't he?

He—He strikes but it's a strike if he misses.
She—There! That man who talks "strike" and the one with the stick hadn't stirred.

He—It was a good ball and he ought to have struck.

She—Well, he didn't and it isn't fair to treat him that way. Why, now, he's dropped the stick and is going away.

He—Yes. He gets his base on four balls.

She—Why, you story-teller, there's only one there. Say, Harry, do the players wear horrid spikes in their gloves?

He—No, the spikes are in their shoes.

She—Dear me, but I should think that would hurt. Why, I had a little nail in my shoe one day, and it made me just as lame. What's that man way out there running for?

He—Trying to catch a fly.

She—Now, Harry, you're fooling me. The idea of making all that fuss over a fly! And it's too early in the season, anyhow. We haven't put up our screens yet.

He—Hello! A squeeze play! Buy!

She—What kind of a play is that?

He—My dear girl, you have caught the general plan of the game beautifully, but the squeeze play is too technical. I'll explain that the next time we come.

She—Oh, will you bring me again? When shall we come?

He—The boss says I may have another afternoon off in 1915—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE RICKARD ROUTINE

Tex Rickard he was worth to see. His protestations flouted. By knocking guys. With arguments. To show that he was doubted.

"If they," said he. Will come to me. And name the guy that told 'em. 'I'll bet that yegg.' A million meg— I guess, now, that'll hold 'em."

HATTERS WON GOOD GAME, GRADY PITCHED WELL FOR US

Final Score was 3 to 1—Hits Were Few and Far Between—Dellar Performs To-Night.

The fans were last evening treated to the second-best game of the season. Of course the fifteen innings victory over the hated Calgary Illegals will always be first, but last night's game was a good one.

One would judge from this introduction that we won. But, my medicine hat took down first money by 3 to 1.

Grady and Nelson were the opposing pitchers, and both performed in fine style. The Eskimo was touched up for four hits, one a double, while the locals could only find Nels, safely on five occasions. Strikeouts were numerous, but the Edmonton team had hard luck, a number of sure-looking safeties being grabbed by the Hat outfield.

Grady showed all the steam and curves that he had last season, and except for a couple of errors, would have won, hands down.

Deacon presented a new corner, from St. Paul, Miller, by name, at third, and he played a very creditable game. His fielding was faultless and he also showed signs of being there with the batting stuff.

Story of the Game

Wilson got a two-bagger in the first, but stayed at second. Edmonton went out in one-two-three order. Hat hit in the second. We got two hits in the second by Spencer and Deacon, but a force out and strikeouts by Miller and Grady spoilt our chances. The third and fourth were runless.

The Hat got their first run in the fifth. Harper went out, ready to Deacon. The pitcher made a fine stop of Harp's line drive. Davidson drew one of those costly bases on balls, and went to third when Morse failed to cover second on a steal. Nelson tried to Morse. Peckwood Bennett's grounder and Davidson crossed the plate. McCarter drew a charity and Wilson grounded out.

We came right back in our half. Grady received free transportation. Morse also walked. Nelson seeming to weaken slightly. Ward came through with the timely hit and Grady scored. Lussi out on a line drive to Zimmerman.

The Hat Got Two

Wilson, first up, drove a mighty fly to Ward, which the catcher-out-fielder looked after. Zim got a base on balls. (Note how these bases on balls always play the deuce.) Page singled past Lussi. Bill just failed to pull off a startling catch. Shaler was hit by a pitched ball, and the bases all occupied. Harper singled to right, scoring Zim. Shaler scored on Davidson's sacrifice fly. Gordon out, Lussi to Deacon.

Fanned Three Men

Gordon replaced Nelson on the mound and fanned Ward, Mills and Burridge in the eighth. Lussi got a safety when Cy. failed to grasp his difficult fly, but stayed on first.

The Hat were blanked in the ninth and Spencer, first Eskimo up hit safely. White, Miller and Grady were not equal to the task of sending him around.

SACRIFICE HITS

We Should Have Won the Game But—Olson Will Be Back To-day—A New Man Signed

Manning seems to be Curry's best pitcher.

Zimmerman, Mills and Ward pulled off some classy catches in the past.

Barstvedt held Carey's misfits down to one run. The Illegals seem to be fading.

The fans want nothing better than Deacon's work at first. He has yet to make an error.

Olson will be in the game today, and Dellar will pitch. Looks like a win from here.

Another good attendance on the box-cars. If they are going to see the game free, why don't they root.

Spencer got a bad crack on the thigh from a foul tip, but pluckily stayed in the game.

Miller will make a good second baseman when Jack Brennan returns to the game.

Pete Morse had an off day in the field, but the fans must remember short field was like a marsh.

Jack Grady pitched a real good game, and 99 times out of a 100 would have won. He is getting right back to his last year's form.

Jack Brennan limped down to the game. He cannot move the toes on his sore foot. We hope to have him back for the Winnipeg series.

The diamond was like a ploughed field in the rainy season and stolen bases were a luxury. The mud-horses were conspicuous by their absence.

Vicarmen writes from Montreal that he had just witnessed a game between Montreal and Rochester. He says that the Eskimos could beat the Royals with ease.

Carney, of Calgary, the world famed grounder, and also assistant compiler of the Spalding baseball guide and rules, has released Talbott. Absence of base hits was the cause.

In the Southern Alberta League, Claresholm defeated Staveland by 20 to 12. Children, once with Medicine Hat, but now with Claresholm, got into a row. Maled defeated Gramby by 13 to 9. Both games were played on the holiday.

Collins, the star twirler of the league last year, will likely join the Maroons again this season, but this may raise a kick from some of the local option men who will object to the Maroons bringing both Beers and Collins with them.

Only one of the Moose Jaw players was familiar to Winnipeg fans, he being Bell, the shortstop, who played for Lehighville last year. That trade between Cox and Davis for O'Flaherty seems to have benefited Moose Jaw, as they have in Hurley a better all-around first-bagger than O'Flaherty, while they get a fast shortstop.

Had a Good Day

"Biggles loves to talk about himself."

"Yes, but he's had enough of it for once. He had a visit from the census man and two insurance agents today."—Washington Star.

FOR THE BEST BATTER

Messrs. McKinley and Clark, of the Ideal Cigar Store, are offering a splendid gold watch for the best batter, participating in 25 or more games, who has the best batting average at the end of the season. It has a handsome clasp, from which is suspended a gold emblem of two crossed bats holding a ball. The job may be seen in G. F. W. Watcher's window. It will go well with the new suit.

ALL POOLS NOT DEAD YET

New York, May 27.—John Emis, the Stamford, Conn., pedestrian, who aspires to break Weston's record from New York to San Francisco, left the city hall at 10:15 Monday morning, armed with letters from Mayor Gaynor to the Mayors of Chicago and San Francisco. Emis will be 68 years old on June 4, just about three years younger than Weston.

"I got stirred up by a reported statement of Weston's that no one except a person born in America could do such a walk," said Mr. Emis. "I have a pair of good legs myself and I think I could turn as good or a better stunt myself." Mayor Garner started Emis on his long journey.

STRATHCONA BASEBALL FANS

The baseball fans of Strathcona, who are patronizing the games in Edmonton, have a grievance against the street railway department. It appears that the fans from across the river must put two fares in the box or else walk from the Cameron House to Diamond park. Our Strathcona correspondent has the following to say, and we heartily agree with his sentiments:

"As a fair proportion of the most enthusiastic fans are found on this side of the creek, it seems that if the management of the ball team would take the matter up with the city, the grievance might easily be remedied, and without injuring the company either."

DELANEY JOINS SMOKE CAMP

Man Who Developed Jeffries Will Now Try to Defeat Him—Flanagan Has Arrived

delaney joins smokes camps bmfj? San Francisco, May 27.—There is joy in the Johnson camp as a result of the announcement that Billy Delaney, veteran maker of heavyweight champions, is to coach the negro for his fight with Jeffries. Johnson himself is highly elated. He figures that Delaney is the best man in the business to prepare him for the crucial battle of his career. This belief is based on the fact that not only can Delaney give him the fruits of forty years of ring experience, but that the veteran who developed Jeffries knows more about the retired champion than anybody else, and will be able to give Johnson many pointers about Jeffries style of fighting.

The advent of Flanagan in the Johnson camp is likewise a matter of great satisfaction to the negro's supporters. Flanagan, who trained many long distance runners, including Longshot the Canadian Indian, has supervision over Johnson's road work, which the fighter regards as one of the most essential features of his training.

HAYWARD MADE CENTURY

The honors of the opening of the cricket season in England went to two professionals, both of whom represent the old established Surrey. They are Hayward and the most recent of Surrey's "class" bowlers in the slender frame of "Razor" Smith. Hayward got 106 out of Surrey's total of 257 against Warwickshire, the latter only scoring 74. The weather was terrible being like a November day.

Driscoll Goes Back

Philadelphia, Pa., May 27.—Pat Moore, of this city had the better of a six round fight with Jim Driscoll, English featherweight champion at the National Athletic Club last night.

EDMONTON PAYS SPLENDID TRIBUTE TO C. W. CROSS

Admiral, in advanced legislation respecting laborers in mines and factories and framed legislation dealing with this. On this, he was elected by the largest majority ever given any man in Alberta.

"Since his election he has devoted his time and energy to develop the north country and now he is beset by political enemies on the ground that he has been too good to the people of his constituency, too good to Edmonton. We want to see him in his old position as Attorney General and we have decided that he shall not leave the job if we can help it."

"We want to make our wishes known to the new Premier and that is what this meeting is for. Petitions are being circulated asking that he be retained in the cabinet and we intend to prove that there are four or five thousand people in this city who still want him as Attorney General."

"Let Him Finish His Work"

Mr. George McLeod said that they appreciated the work that Mr. Cross had accomplished in the development of the province during the last five or six years, and that he should be allowed to stay where he could have an opportunity to continue this work. "We want," said Mr. McLeod, "to see that he gets a square shake in the new shuffle that is taking place."

Mr. Charles May stated that he was proud that Edmonton had a mayor who was not afraid to come out before the people and express his opinion upon a political matter.

Mr. Joseph Clark thought that if Mr. Sifton treated the north as well as "Charlie" had treated the south, there would be no hesitation in supporting him locally.

"No one knows the why and wherefore of the political panorama that is passing before us down under the hill," said Mr. Clark, "but we do know that we want Mr. Cross in the new cabinet as Attorney General. And if we don't get him back there we want to know why."

Mr. Clark then called for three cheers for Mr. Cross and they were given with rousing enthusiasm, amid the roar of thunder and the flare of lightning of a passing storm.

The meeting then broke up with cheers.

H. W. McKENNEY IS FOR C. W. CROSS opinion seemed to be universally held that it was not the Waterways deal that had given cause for the present agitation, but that the solution of the mystery was to be found in the unexplained scheming of powerful interests which Mr. Cross had offended in the course of his duties as head of the legal affairs of the province. His rigorous enforcement of the liquor laws, by his crusade against the great corporations, and by his aggressive action against the C.P.R.—these things were well understood and appreciated throughout the country, and Mr. Cross' friends need have no doubt over his position leading him their support, and endeavoring to secure his continuance in that position in which he could carry on his good work for the people.

McKenney for Cross.

Mr. McKenney, from the Pembina, followed, and endorsed every statement of Mr. Puffer's in favor of Mr. Cross. He declared with evident sincerity, "I am a friend of Mr. Cross. I have known him for years, and regard him as above reproach. I have always had a strong regard for him and a high appreciation of his public services, so devoted, so painstaking, so clever, and so honorable. The statute books will speak as to his actions in matters of legislation. I am convinced there was nothing in the nature of dishonesty in the Waterways bargain on the part of either Jim Rowland or C. W. Cross. I believe they have both been very much abused men, and one does not need to be a great prophet to be able to say that there will be a great revision of feeling and that public sentiment will again be in favor of men who have been, in my judgment, cruelly used, in being held up to the suspicion and reproach of their fellow-citizens."

Taking up another aspect of the question, Mr. McKenney said that he had differed from the Rutherford government on quite other grounds than the Waterways deal. He was more than satisfied that it was sensationalism that was underlying the opposition to that great scheme, and he urged that it was of the utmost importance that every step should be taken to secure that the opening up of the country should not be delayed. A gentleman who until recently had been a member of the cabinet had on various occasions declined to do anything towards making a way for the thousands of settlers who would flock into that country, and had by untruthful and equivocating objections kept things back. To the province generally, it was of the utmost importance that Edmonton and the railroads radiating south, west, and east from that city should be connected by a line running north with the Great Waterways, which made possible easy communication for thousands of miles into a rich country, and which eventually found an outlet in the Arctic seas.

Concluding, Mr. McKenney added another tribute to the worth of Mr. Cross, and stated that he intended to do what he could to assist in having Mr. Cross retained as Attorney General of the province.

SENATOR ROY, J. W. WOOLF

appropriations and have to obtain more money to carry on the work. He wanted to be on the safe side.

Distasteful Manner
Mr. Goddard had not dealt with the terms in his estimates, otherwise he said he thought it was pretty thoroughly lough. The distance to Fort McMurray was about 235 miles, and there would be no bridges of any great size. The Sturgeon River bridge would only be a pile one; but the House River would have to be crossed by going down one side of the valley, making a low crossing, and then going up the other side, which could be done on a one per cent. grade.

Dr. Waddell made several estimates to Mr. Clarke for construction of the line, and witness said that, as well as he remembered $16,594 was the lowest made, although in the first estimate was made out to about $26,000 or $27,000.

Asked as to what orders had been given concerning the construction of the road, witness said that Clarke gave instructions to the engineers that the road was to be one which "would bear the strictest investigations."

"Did you not think that Mr. Clarke was to form the construction company?"

"No."

"What did you think was to form the company?"

"Mr. Bowen."

"You knew Mr. Bowen was acting for Clarke?"

"Yes."

In October, 1909, witness was made secretary, but never vacated post of assistant, chief engineer to the Alberta Great Waterways Company.

When asked to define his duties as secretary Mr. Goddard said there were no special duties. Mr. Clarke had asked him to take the post of secretary and that was all.

When asked if he knew who any of the directors or shareholders in the construction company were, witness said he did not know.

"But you are employed by the construction company?"

"Yes."

A letter was produced which had been written by Mr. Goddard to Mr. Woods, in which he said he was very much opposed to Clarke making any alterations in the contract with the government. Certain alterations had been agreed to—such as the using of angle bars instead of fish plates, but when asked what were the further alterations that he did not approve of, Mr. Goddard did not seem to know.

The commission then adjourned till this afternoon.

2nd SESSION IS NOW OVER

then added that as a king he had not had to work very hard and that there were other hardy-going.

No Rules Observed.

That is as far as he got when the speaker broke loose. Forgetting that fact which is supposed to be the earmark of a parliamentarian, over-leaping rules of parliamentary procedure, the nimble-witted legislators of Alberta—Mr. Bennett, one-time authority on procedure, well in the lead—simply fumbled over themselves to make a martyr of the Socialist member. In the midst of the disorder, without asking the member from Rocky Mountain to take his seat or in any way intimating to him that he was out of order, while the member was still speaking, the Speaker called for a standing vote.

When the vote was taken, the audience, following the lead of the members and completely disregarding parliamentary decorum, took a liberty which is not allowed in any other British parliament. They applauded. There was no demand for order from the Speaker. Not a messenger, not even the sergeant-at-arms, made a move to enforce a decorous behavior.

The audience applauded, applauded a resolution which expressed sorrow at the death of a British King.

MANY FUNNY THINGS HAPPENED TO JONES

Amusing Farce at the Empire Theatre Proved to Be a Good Laughter Producer

In all the things that happened to Jones in "What Happened to Jones" at the Empire Theatre last night all the sympathy he got from the audience was renewed laughter. The play was constructed as a laughter producer and the company which presented it succeeded in making it go sufficiently to get a lot of laughter out of the audience. Jones is a traveller for a hymn book house with cards as a sideline, who, by a most amusing series of events, finds it necessary to masquerade as a bishop. This takes place in the home of Ebenezer Goodly who has to fall in with the deception because of an indiscretion in which he was associated with the travelling salesman. After the make-believe bishop has upset the whole household the real bishop turns up and adds new entanglements which keep the audience guessing how it is going to turn out until the curtain goes down.

William G. Colvin, was Jones and filled the part well. Harrison Deal was Ebenezer Goodly and added his share to the fun. Chesney Logan as a young man who was very much mixed up in it all, gave good support. Miss Florence Hunter as the Swedish servant who is going to "yump the yob," was very funny, and Dorothy Milne, Grace McHugh, Mildred Parsons, Marion Macdonald and George D. Stucco, made up a capable company.

OLD QUESTION UP AGAIN

Madrid, May 27.—The Spanish government, it is said, has decided to demand a fresh inquiry into the cause of the Maine disaster of the wreck of the battleship is raised. The most prominent Spanish naval experts have prepared elaborate reports upholding their version of the cause of the disaster—namely, spontaneous combustion in the powder magazine.

NO HEADWAY MADE IN FIGHTING FIRE

Situation Has Become Very Alarming in the Forest Fires Raging in Manitoba

THE RANGERS QUIT WORK

Overcome by Heat and Fatigue They Refused to Keep up the Fight

Dauphin, Man., May 27.—Chief Forest Ranger Davis returned and brings discouraging reports. The fire has made great headway in the bush and so hot and dangerous was the work that the 150 men in charge refused to continue it. This left him helpless and the fire free to run at will. The report is that today the sawmill of the Cowan Construction Company was burned, together with a large quantity of lumber, railway ties and timber. It looks as if the fire will run over the entire limit and destroy it. If the wind keeps up and no rain falls there, valuable timber will be burned. The situation is critical and the owners alarmed.

PONY SHOW DRAWS LARGE AUDIENCES

The Parade of Ponies and the Animal Clowns Were the Big Features

The Markle, Bell, and Walker dog and pony show, gave the initial performances of their three days sojourn in Edmonton yesterday, on the Horner rink grounds, playing to good sized audiences both afternoon and evening. The show is almost a circus in itself, having many of the latter's characteristics, and is very entertaining. The various kinds of animals went through their respective stunts with intelligence, almost human. There is not an objectionable feature in the whole affair, while it is instructive and very amusing.

The features were the ponies' parade and the animal clowns. In the former a number of beautiful Shetland ponies perform a fancy drill with the neatness and precision of a company of territorials. Another very entertaining act was a farce acted by a number of dogs, entitled, "Mr. and Mrs. Johnson." The different parts were acted most cleverly.

Besides the foregoing, there were numerous other acts, all meritorious in which graceful moose, comical monkeys, coyotes and bears took various parts. The show's band provided evening music.

The performance as seen yesterday, demonstrated to any person the real capabilities of animals, in the matter of intelligence and leads one to believe that the limit has not yet been reached.

The Port of Missing Men.

By Meredith Nicholson, Author of "The House of a Thousand Candles"

Copyright, 1907, by the Dobbie-Merrill Company.

"Shirley" and his fingers closed upon hers.

"I love you, Shirley! From those days when I saw you in Paris before the great Gettysburg battle picture I loved you. You had felt the cry of the old world, the story that in the last fields, its beauty and romance, just as I had felt the call of this new and more wonderful world. I understood. I knew what was in your heart. I knew what those things meant to you, but I had put them aside. I had chosen another life for myself. And the poor life that you saved, that is yours if you will take it. I have told your father and Baron von Marhof that I would not take the fortune my father left me. I would not go back there to be thanked or to get a ribbon to wear in my coat. But my name, the name I bore as a boy and disgraced in my father's eyes—his name that he made famous throughout the world, the name I cast aside with my youth, the name I flung away in anger—they wish me to take that."

She withdrew her hand and rose and looked away toward the western hills. "The greatest romance in the world is here, Shirley. I have dreamed it all over—in the Canadian woods, on the mountains range I watched the herd at night. My father spent his life keeping a king upon his throne, but I have seen there are higher thrones and finer things than studding a shaggy throne or being a king. And the name that has meant nothing to me except domination and power—it can serve no purpose for me to take it now. I learned much from the poor archduke. He taught me to love, to respect, to love the life he had led from. My father was the last great defender of the divine right of kings, but I believe in the divine right of man. The name of the capital in Washington does not mean to me force or hatred or power, but faith and hope and man's right to live and do as he pleases."

Back across the meadow they went hand in hand. "I will not go back to take the old name—unless you tell me, Shirley!" "There was an instant in which they both faced the western sun. He looked down suddenly, and the feeling in his heart went to his lips. "It was that way. You were just like that when I saw you, Shirley, with the dreams in your eyes."

He caught her hand and kissed it, bending very low indeed. Suddenly, as he stood erect, her arms were about his neck and her cheek, with its warmth and color, lay against his face. "I do not know"—and he secretly heard the whispered words—"I do not know Frederick Augustus von Strobel, but I love John Armitage," she said.

Then back across the meadow, through the rose alighted ways of the quiet garden, they went hand in hand together and answered the barn's question.

FOUND BROTHER AFTER 18 YEARS

Edward Lodge of Edmonton Was Introduced to Brother Who He Thought Was Dead
To meet his only brother, after not having seen him for over eighteen years and after believing him long since dead, was the experience of C. N. R. Lodge, an employee of the C. N. R. yesterday. He was introduced to him by another employee and the relationship was soon recalled.
Both the men are natives of Elmira, Ontario. The younger one, Edward, came west in advance of his brother, settling first in Regina and afterwards going south to California. Since then he has been twice across the Pacific Ocean and also served in the Spanish-American war.
The last Alfred Lodge heard of his brother was a letter written from Los Angeles in which he stated that he was coming home very soon. He replied to the letter, but there was no further correspondence.
Mr. Edward Lodge said that he never received any reply to his letter, so it must have gone astray. He wrote several times, but still received no reply, finally coming to the same conclusion as did his brother, namely, that he was dead.
It was just a few days ago when he was in Calgary that he heard of a Mr. Alfred Lodge in Edmonton and he came north with the expectancy that he would be either his brother or some relations, with the foregoing happy result.

CAR BARNS CANNOT GO ON THIS YEAR

The new car barns will not be started this year. That was what Commissioner Bouillon told a Capital reporter this morning.
"It will be useless to try and start them now," said Mr. Bouillon, "as it would be impossible to have them completed before the winter sets in. Owing to the fact that Mr. Taylor resigned, a lot of details were left for my consideration, and this has delayed matters considerably. The bylaw authorizing the erection of the new barns was passed about three months ago, but nothing has been done yet. The work of construction should have been started at least two months ago, but it was not, so the work will have to remain over until next year."
Commissioner Bouillon then went on to say that although work on the car barns and the various extensions to the street railway will not be completed this year, the street railway system will not suffer in the least, as there is no pressing demand for these new extensions.

SERIOUS CHARGES ARE MADE BY WIFE

Statement of Claim in Action for Alimony Contains Some Sensational Declarations

A case of extreme disagreement between husband and wife, will be heard in the Supreme Court early in June, when Mrs. Joseph Vandenhouten will claim alimony and protection of her property from Leon Gustave Vandenhouten. They were married in Belgium, and came to live in Morinville, Alberta, some time ago.
On different occasions, the plaintiff claims, the defendant, tormented her by pulling her about the room by her hair, and bounding her head against the floor with great force. While on another occasion the amiable husband called her nasty names, and holding a handkerchief to her head, threatened to saw it off if she moved.
She was never allowed to go to church, she claims, and further declares that for the amusement of the husband the children were instructed to seize any handy weapon and beat their mother with it.
Another favorite pastime of Vandenhouten, according to the statement of claim, was to throw glassware at the plaintiff's head, which should they happen to strike it would break thereon, causing "a grievous wound."
